
In each plot, circles represent green products that the denoted country is not yet competitive in.