A SARDENAIRA

The sardenara (sardenaira in dialect) of Sanremo belongs to the family of the pizzate and derives from the pissaladière from Provence. In Liguria del ponente it has many names: pisciarà, pasta cu a pumata, machetusa, pisciadella or piscialandrea (pizzalandrea) term derived from the name of the admiral Andrea Doria, who however cannot be the inventor of the dish since at that time the tomato had still not arrived in Liguria.
